

ABSTRACT

5

NECKTIE RESTRAINING DEVICE

A necktie restraining device is disclosed having two flexibly connected covers. The first cover is placed on the shirt button located above the necktie label on a necktie panel. The second cover and flexible connector are dropped through the opening 10 between the necktie label and the front necktie panel. The second button cover is then placed on the shirt button located below the necktie label.